As residents of City of Albany, we bear the responsibility to dispose of our household hazardous waste properly in order to protect and preserve the quality of our groundwater, streams, lakes, and rivers. Improper disposal of household hazardous waste can include pouring them down the drain, on the ground, into storm sewers, or in some cases putting them out with the regular trash. Successful collection efforts have helped to protect our groundwater from hazardous waste contamination.

The City of Albany Household Hazardous Waste Program is funded in part by the Environmental Protection Fund, as administered through the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation.
