BACKGROUND

In January 2014, Mayor Kathy Sheehan noted in her Transition Team Report that her new administration would focus on eradicating vast inequities and become a city where equity is understood to be the bedrock of the City’s success. On October 29, 2014, Mayor Sheehan accepted President Obama’s My Brother’s Keeper Challenge, and made the commitment to include girls and young women of color as well. Working with a committee of community members and stakeholders, an Action Plan was created in October 2015.

The MBSK Action Plan explained the current challenges, existing local partners, and desired outcomes. Albany’s MBSK has committed to the following milestones:

1. Entering school ready to learn;
2. Reading at grade level by third grade;
3. Completing post-secondary education or training;
4. Successfully entering the workforce; and
5. Reducing youth violence and providing a second chance.

From the launch of MBSK to the present day, more than a dozen town hall meetings, summits and activities to engage with local stakeholders about the current barriers, milestones and attainable solutions have occurred. These exchanges with the City of Albany youth, families and community-based organizations, non-profit and external governmental agencies have resulted in data sharing, cultural awareness activities and policy recommendations.

In 2016, New York State became the first state in the nation to provide grant dollars to fund MBK Challenge communities with a $20M grant through the New York State Education Department (NYSED). The City of Albany MBSK Initiative assisted the City School District of Albany in developing a proposal to NYSED. The City School District was awarded a grant in Round 1 to address specific milestones.

SECTION 5: ORGANIZATIONAL OVERVIEW:

5.1 The Department of Youth & Workforce Service's (DYWS) mission is to provide Albany youth, adults and dislocated workers with services that meet the needs of jobseekers, demands of employers, and that lead to successful career pathways. To fulfill this vision, DYWS partners with Local Educational Agencies, area youth-serving programs, law enforcement entities, and other community stakeholders. DYWS also facilitates the following MBSK goals for Albany children and youth:
